Trinity Warranty Extended Service Agreement

Even today's best heating and cooling systems may fail over time regardless of the manufacturer's excellent reputation. With the purchase of an Extended Service Agreement (ESA) during the initial investment in your home's comfort system, you will protect your budget against future unforeseen repair costs.

We offer industry leading, peace of mind ESAs that protect you and your investment for years to come.

Protect your budget

Protect your family's savings and know you are covered against unexpected repairs

Invest in the future

The cost of a single repair could exceed investing in an ESA which provides years of protection

No-risk investment

All ESAs are fully insured by an "A" rated insurance company. You are ensured that money will always be there to pay for your repairs with NO DEDUCTIBLE

Why Buy an Extended Service Agreement (ESA)?

- When you purchase expensive equipment like an air conditioner, furnace or boiler, you probably do not want to pay any more than necessary. And you expect your equipment to last for at least 10 years.
- Unfortunately, heating and air conditioning equipment can fail for a variety of reasons, requiring an expensive service call.
- While the manufacturer may offer a warranty on your equipment, you may not realize the warranty usually does not cover labor, sometimes even in the first year.
- Labor to repair or replace equipment can be very costly. With an ESA, you are covered on both parts and labor for up to 5 or 10 years, with NO DEDUCTIBLE.
- Very often the cost of the ESA is lower than the repair cost you may face.
